
Interfaith reflections on conference

★ LEADERS of Jewish, Christian, Muslim, Sikh and Hindu eco-movements joined together online to reflect at the halfway point of the COP26 conference and discuss the interfaith response to the climate emergency.

The event was hosted by EcoSynagogue in partnership with the Board of Deputies, and was chaired by EcoSynagogue's RABBI MARK GOLDSMITH.

TANYA SAKHNOVICH, of EcoSynagogue, said the organisation aimed to provide “a mainstream Jewish voice in the climate emergency conversation”.

■ 40 UK synagogues sign up to the Environmental Audit to save planet – see pages 18-19
